

Since 2008, over 5,200 people rode with me in the Brotonne forest and its surroundings. 45% of them were more or less beginners. Everyone can walk with me with the guarantee of optimum safety : my horses are quiet, because they stay at least 8 hours a day in the meadows, in herds, and go very often into the forest. These outridings are more or less sporty ; the deal is to enjoy nature on horseback but also to learn or to rediscover riding rules and equestrian tourism. The different routes have been recognized and are borrowed very regularly. The rides are organized in groups of 3 to 10 riders, depending on the level (see below). A minimum recipe (three full-price persons or equivalent) is required and the ride can be privatized if you set the price of 3 places. Each one prepares his mount. A 2-hour ride therefore often requires three hours, and even four for beginners (half-day initiation).
